

Community Supervision of Adult Sex Offenders

Georgia Cumming, B. S.

This seminar will provide practical information and strategies for probation and parole officers on the 'how to's' of supervising adult sex offenders in the community. The course is designed for probation and parole officers, however it will be helpful as well as for clinicians and program administrators. Topics include characteristics and typologies of sex offenders, presentence investigation reports, risk assessment, disposition and case planning, and supervision strategies with emphases on evaluating and responding to risk behaviors. This seminar will include lecture, audio-visual presentations, case studies, discussion and resource materials.